THE SENATORIAL contest in California has practically narrowed down between M. H. DeYoung of the Chronicle, Republican, and Stephen M. White of Los Angeles, Democrat. Both are representative men of their parties-though in a different way. De Young is profabiy the foremost Republican of the coast today. He represents the modern ideas and the policy of Republicanism as "she is taught" in all her purity and vigor. As editor of the Chronicle Mr. DeYoung has sounded the keynote from time to time and in the present campaign has already accomplished some heroic work for protection and Americanism. If the fight was made now in a canvas before the people as between White and DeYoung or De-Young and any other Republican the editor of the Chronicle would capture the prize with ease.

English and Other Languages. As a language English is certainly direct, in the way that it is not given to the use of polite paraphrase. ### Japanese in America.

There is a strong desire on the part of young Japanese to come to the United States to acquire or perfect themselves in the English language and complete their education. The welcome given to earlier students has led many who have entirely insufficient means to undertake the journey-to come, indeed, with scarcely more than enough to pay their passage to this country. Others, better provided for, have no idea of the increased cost of living here, while many hope to receive aid from persons who may become interested in them here or to find some employment while they are carrying on their studies.

The practical results are not always fortunate, and many of the students referred to would be better off at home. The reputation of having been educated in Europe or America has a certain value at present in Japan, however, and the Japanese students are, almost without a single exception, a credit to their native country.-Philadelphia Ledger.
